DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 2/17/2006 has been entered.

Response to Arguments

2. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-3 and 5-7 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

3. Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Miyazaki ('235).

Miyazaki discloses in Fig. 1 a mounting arrangement for a laser source (laser on the left) and at least one auxiliary electrical component (2 lasers on the right) associated therewith, said laser source and said auxiliary electrical component being mounted on a general plane of extension of a submount, wherein said at least one auxiliary electrical component is mounted on said submount so that a longest dimension of said at least one auxiliary electrical component is at least substantially orthogonal to said general plane of said submount.

With respect to claim 5, Miyazaki discloses the at least one auxiliary electrical component being mounted onto said submount by means of conductive glue (col. 8, lines 20-22).

4. Claims 1, 3 and 7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Morishita ('863).

With respect to claim 1, Morishita discloses in Fig. 1 a mounting arrangement for a laser source 430 and at least one auxiliary electrical component 411 associated therewith, said laser source and said auxiliary electrical component being mounted on a general plane of extension of a submount 420, wherein said at least one auxiliary electrical component is mounted on said submount so that a longest dimension of said at least one auxiliary electrical component is at least substantially orthogonal to said general plane of said submount.

With respect to claim 3, Morishita discloses the electrical auxiliary component being displaced laterally with respect to the lasing direction of the laser source in order to prevent it from blocking the laser beam as shown in the Fig. 1.

Art Unit: 2828

With respect to claim 7, it is inherent that both laser 430 and the electrical auxiliary component 411 are mounted on the electrically conductive area or pad so that current can be provided to laser and electrical auxiliary component.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claim 6 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Morishita ('863) in view of Auracher et al. ('727). Morishita discloses the claimed invention except for the auxiliary component being a bias inductance. Auracher discloses a mounting arrangement with a laser source LD, a submount 6, and an auxiliary component such as L disposed on the general plane of the submount, and the auxiliary component is SMD component. For the advantageous benefit of the arrangement, it would have been obvious to the one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to provide the auxiliary component as SMD component in order to fit directly into the submount as taught by Auracher to Morishita.

Allowable Subject Matter

6. Claims 2, 4 and 8 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Claims 9-10 are allowed as indicated in the previous Office Action.
